FAMILY PLEA HOSPITAL

By BEN MIDDLETON

AN Axminster family is calling for Axminster Hospital to extend its opening hours on a Sunday.

At present the minor injuries unit is open from 8am until 6pm every day.

However, the Swift family, of Cridlake, believe this should be extended due to a limited bus and train service on a Sunday making it difficult to travel to Honiton Hospital or the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital.

Six-week-old Brandon Swift became ill after 6pm on Sunday, October 10th, and his mum, Amanda, was told to go to Honiton Hospital.

Amanda said: "I called Devon Doctors who are on call and they told me to take Brandon to Honiton Hospital. Unfortunately this proved impossible because I don't drive, there was no bus service and the trains only run every hour or so.

"If Axminster Hospital was open I could have just walked down to it and have my baby seen straight away.'

Amanda's sister Caroline said: "I had Brandon with me in the morning and he just wouldn't stop crying. Eventually he stopped and then I took him back to his mum and he started crying again. This is when we noticed that he had a rash on his belly.

"There are a lot of children in Axminster and a lot of elderly people so I think the hospital should be open for longer, even if it was every other weekend, just to make it easier for people if they become ill or need treatment."

Granddad Dave said: "You are told not to phone 999 unless it is an absolute emergency, we were really put in a catch 22 situation. Eventually a friend of hours who is in the St John Ambulance came round and had a look at Brandon

"It would have been so much easier if the hospital in town was open though."

On Monday, October 11th, Brandon was taken to Axminster Medical Practice where doctors gave him the all clear. The rash on his belly was caused by fabric conditioner.

The family are now in the process of setting up an online petition on Facebook and are urging as many people to sign up as possible.

Caroline added: "The petition will be asking people if they would like to see Axminster Hospital extend its opening hours at weekends.

"I have already spoken to a lot of people about this and they have said that they would sign up."

A spokesman for NHS Devon said: "Devon Doctors' out-of-hours service has three treatment centres in east Devon — at Honiton Hospital, Exmouth Hospital and Tiverton Hospital.

"Brandon's mother contacted Devon Doctors and a doctor called back within 20 minutes to provide an initial assessment.

"The doctor felt it was clinically appropriate for Brandon to be seen at the Honiton treatment centre.

"Doctors will always encourage patients who need a face-to-face consultation to come to a treatment centre.

"This is because they are fully equipped to be able to deal with most medical matters.

"Patients are responsible for arranging their own transport to out-of-hours treatment centres and daytime surgeries.

"On this occasion the doctor tried to contact Brandon's mother again to discuss her difficulty in getting to Honiton and left a message on an answer phone for her to contact him.

"She did not call back at that time and we were informed the next morning that they were taking Brandon to his own GP."

Green shop goes 'solar'

♦ KATHY Laing and Shelagh Beak are pictured in front of the display, holding a printout of the information that will be on display

A COMMUNITY shop has continued its environmentallyapproach friendly installing solar panels on its roof.

Dalwood Community Shop went plastic bag-free in June 2008 and has now gone a step further by installing electricity-saving solar panels.

The shop is run entirely by volunteers and has been described as "a triumph of community spirit and enterprise"

A planning application to install the solar panels was heard in February this year, and the panels were installed in early October.

The aims of the project was described as follows in a report written for the planning hearing: "The community shop association, which is an entirely voluntary association is seeking to fit the solar panels to the building to reduce their electricity bill by half, and diminish their footprint on the environment by reducing their emissions by up to one tonne.

"The association would also like to use the panels as a permanent renewable energy project."

Kathy Lang, the chair of the shop committee, explained grants totaling just over £10,000 made the project possible.

She echoed the report by saving: "Hopefully we will reduce bills by half at least."

One of the grants came from a scheme called Making it Local, which is a five-year £2.4million scheme covering the Blackdown Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), East Devon AONB and surrounding areas.

More information about the application process is available online at www.makingitlocal.org.

Students go to polls over priority issues

By ANDERS LARSSON

PUPILS Community College recently went to the polls on two important issues — regeneration and tourism.

East Devon District Council (EDDC) sent a panel of officers and councillors to the Axminster college as part of Democracy Week.

About 40 Years 7 to 11 pupils had been prepared by history teacher Sheila Baker and were tasked with debating issues relating to EDDC's emerging Local Development Framework (LDF).

Four pupils gave speeches on the regeneration of Axminster and another four spoke on tourism before their peers and panel members debated the matters and gave their

A ballot box materialised and mock polls were staged.

The voters were asked to tick one of two boxes - A: Agree, B: Disagree.

The second voting slip said: "We should only encourage tourism developments that respect the environment," voters were again asked if they agreed or disagreed.

The first poll saw 37 pupils agree, with 7 disagreeing. The second poll saw 31 pupils in agreement and 13

Before leaving the hall, pupils were given a summary version of EDDC's Core Strategy Preferred Approach document, and asked not only to partake in the ongoing consultation, but to encourage friends and family to

The LDF consultation has proved highly controversial, one reason being the fact that a major planning application for Axminster was dealt with by EDDC only two weeks into the 12-week consultation period.

Playground grant saved

A GRANT towards a playground relocation and upgrade in Millwey Rise has survived and won't be axed.

As previously reported, a £40,000 government Playbuilder scheme grant had been promised, but the coalition government announced a review.

A separate sum of £47.000 had already been secured through East Devon District Council, but a withdrawal of the Playbuilder money would have created a problem.

The final decision, originally expected at the end of August, was delayed.

But Devon County Council (DCC), which oversees the Playbuilder scheme locally, has now confirmed that the grant will be given.

In total, there are 14 projects affected in Devon and the coalition review led to a total grant of £ 576,000, which is £27,000 less than the original figure.

But a DCC spokepserson said the authority will make up the shortfall to ensure none of the projects will be adversely affected.

Public opinion Foundation fun for kids sought on new leader decision

By BECKIE RUTHERFORD

EAST Devon District Council (EDDC) is asking members of the public to comment on possible changes to its current executive arrangements.

These changes are required by the Local Government and Public Involvement Health Act 2007 and the council is inviting local residents to choose one of the following options.

• Option 1 — Leader and Cabinet Model: The council would be led by one elected councillor who had been appointed by the other councillors. This leader would have to appoint a deputy leader and would choose a cabinet of up to eight other councillors to help them run the council and make decisions on policies and budgets. Although appointed for four years, the leader could be removed by a vote of no confidence. This system is similar to the current leader and cabinet differences being the right to appoint their own cabinet, the ability to exercise some or all of the executive functions themselves and the fouryear-term.

• Option 2 - Directly-elected Mayor and Cabinet Model: The council would be led by a directlyelected mayor who would remain in office for a four-year-period. The mayor would not be a councillor or representative of an area or ward of EDDC and they could not be removed from office by the council.

They would appoint a councillor to be deputy mayor as well as a cabinet of up to eight other councillors to offer advice on running the council and help make decisions about policies and budgets.

At its meeting on Wednesday, October 13th, EDDC officers agreed in principle and subject to public consultation, that its preference was Option 1.

EDDC is consulting on these and the outcome of this will be reported to the council's executive board on Friday, December 3rd.

A spokesman for EDDC said: "The executive board recommends the proposal to the full council which then passes its resolution to adopt the 2007 act executive arrangements in December 2010. The revised arrangements come into operation three days after the local elections in May 2011."

Any members of the public who would like to comment should email democraticservices@eastdevon.gov.u k. Alternatively send comments to Democratic Services, East Devon District Council, Knowle, Sidmouth

Charity trio benefit from river walk duo

By BEN MIDDLETON

TWO friends have so far raised more than £1,000 to be split between three charities.

As previously reported in Pulman's View, Tony Booth, of Axminster, and Paddy Magrane, of Shute, were planning to walk the length of the River Axe in aid of Shute Community Primary School, Rethink and Farm

The walk took place on Saturday, October 9th, and the pair completed the 28 miles from the source of the river in Beaminster, Dorset, to its mouth at Axmouth in a time of 10 hours and 50 minutes.

So far Tony and Paddy have collected £615 for Shute Community Primary School, £248.57 for Rethink and £239 for Farm Africa.

Speaking to Pulman's View Tony said: "The weather was spot on and it was a really good day.

"We estimated that the walk would take us between 11 and 12 hours but we made up a bit of time because we didn't have to stop and keep looking at the map and our early pace was quite fast."

During the walk Tony and Paddy were met by friends along the way and only had to take one small detour when they came across a large bull.

"Our friends met us at various parts of the route and then they met us at the end and we shared a bottle of

Tony added that he is now hoping to boost the total amount raised and anyone who would like to offer a pledge can do so by visiting www.walkingtheriveraxe.co.uk.

He said: "If people who have FUNDS raised were sligthly down and police were kept busy during this year's Honiton Carnival, however large crowds gathered to watch the spectacle and the event has been described as a success by the organisers.

The carnival took place on Saturday, October 23rd with the main procession beginning at 7.30pm from Ottery Moor Lane.

Carnival secretary Karen Wilson said: "We did the counting on Sunday after all the results where known and unfortunately we were slightly down on last year.

"However, I think the carnival went really well and from what people have told me the crowds were pretty good." Bill Austin carnival chairman said:

Bill Austin, carnival chairman, said: "The carnival went off very well. The weather held off which was good and the collection was only about £400 down on last year so we can't complain too much.

"Thanks to everyone who attended and for the carnival entries who did a good job of cleaning up after themselves."

A spokesman for Honiton police added: "Due to the large crowd that gathered at Honiton Carnival, police from Honiton came out in pairs to ensure everyone's safety.

"Due to the amount of officers on

MONTHS of training paid off as all members of an Axminster commando challenge squad completed the gruelling course at Woodbury Common.

For the second year, Axminster Neighbourhood Policing Team prepared a squad of local youngsters, police officers and adult helpers for the annual Marine Commando Challenge.

It was far from a case of simply turning up on the day as squad members trained together twice a week for approximately 15 weeks.

This year's event took place on October 10th and PC Kevin Bennett explained: "We commenced recruitment in June utilising the local press, the police web site, approaching local schools and, on occasion, approaching individuals directly.

"We initially managed to recruit about 20 young adults (16-25 years) and commenced training in late June.

"Through the first month some decided that it was too much hard work and unfortunately dropped out.
"However a hard core of 15 young adults did continue and along with three hardy police officers and two adult helpers, managed to get themselves very much fitter and prepared for the challenge that lay ahead

"On the day we had a total entry of 20 people split into three teams — Minster's Finest, Minster's Also Rans and Minster's Also Walked"

PC Bennett was happy to report that all members managed to complete the 10K multi-terrain assault course without incident or injury.

He added: "All claimed to have thoroughly enjoyed it, although seeing some of their faces when they got to the infamous sheep dip (an underwater tunnel) I would suggest that it wasn't strictly the case.

"The aim of the project was to help form, develop and improve relationships between the police and young adults of our communities and distract them away from anti-

"This aim was well and truly met with many friendships being made that I'm sure will last for many years to come.

"The team has raised about £1,250 in sponsorship to date, with more sponsorship to be collected. We estimate the total will exceed £1,500, which will be donated to the Commando Challenge's chosen charities — Devon Air Ambulance and C Group Royal Marines."

Launching more sport

SPORT in this area is a huge factor, I am pleased to say, in many people's lives.

I am always surprised to see the amount of dedicated sporting and activities clubs and individuals in these

And due to the sheer volume of sportspeople, I am pleased to launch our new six-page sports section.

The Pulman's View team has added an extra two pages to the sports section to help us to accommodate the many different disciplines that our readers take part

Football is a huge sport in these parts - and pretty much everywhere else in the world — and players and enthusiasts at a lower level put in so much training and hard work to raise dedicated teams from local villages.

So it is important to us that they get the coverage they deserve in their local paper.

But it isn't just for the footy fans out there. There are so many other sports that, due to the lower numbers involved, fail to always get the coverage.

Hockey, netball, equestrian sports, crib, bowling — they should all get their own space within the sports

Skittles is a huge activity in this part of the world something that was a new concept to my family when we relocated here from the south east many moons

In Kent, we didn't have such a thing, but in east Devon, particularly, it is rife. and it deserves its place

So, with all that in mind, I hope our increased sports section is a winner with a large proportion of our readers.

I am also pleased to introduce the newest recruit to the Pulman's team. Sports journalist Kevin Fahey has joined us to use his extensive knowledge to cover the local football scene.

Starting out training as a reporter in Bristol, Kevin soon found sports journalism to be his speciality.

Now living in the beautiful fishing village of Beer, Kevin will be covering football matches from teams in the Perry Street, Devon and Exeter and South West Peninsula leagues on a regular basis.

His excellent sports writing and reporting will be a great asset to the content of our growing sports section.

The ying and yang of life does not escape the newsroom. Whilst celebrating the appointment of sport reporter Kevin and the addition of sport pages, the Pulman's team also had a disaster recently.

I say 'disaster' and, although I am a newspaper headline-writer, I promise I am not sexing this up. It was a disaster for my news team anyway.

Technical gremlins crawled into one of our computers in the Axminster office overnight last Sunday and ate much of the internals of the machine.

This meant that Monday morning (press day for the Devon editions) was in total chaos and many of our emails had been digested by said gremlins.

The computer, belonging to chief reporter Anders Larsson, was sent away to be fixed, and it was, but the emails were not found, nor were the gremlins.

CHIEF news this week comes from the national scene although the effect of decisions there will be felt locally.

First comes the results of the elections, for the next five years, to the general synod of the Church of England. Members to the House of Clergy and the House of Laity are elected by deanery synods. The successful clergy were the Venerable Penny Driver, Archdeacon of Exeter, Canon Andrew Godsall, Exeter Cathedral, Prebendary Sam Philpott and The Revd Rod Thomas from Plymouth.

The Laity elected were Mesdames Barrell and Foreman from Plymouth and Okehampton respectively, Miss Forward from Heavitree, and Messrs Hodgson and Shelly from Cadbury Deanery.

The general synod is completed with a House of Bishops from the 44 dioceses.

One of the main issues facing the new synod will be voting on whether women should become Bishops in the Church of England. Local anglican churches in Devon will first be invited next year to vote on this in their parishes and deaneries before the final decision is reached by the general synod.

Rev Linda Chester, methodist minister, asks: "What is your favourite book or story? Even if you haven't read a book recently, you will no doubt have a favourite one you can recall."

This Sunday was designated Bible Sunday when we specifically thought about the Bible and reflected on what it means to us. The Bible, a collection of different style books spanning centuries, is special to Christians and it is at the centre of our worship.

I always open its pages with a sense of excitement because I know that God will speak to me. There are so many modern versions available which can easily be read, and notes to help our understanding; the Gospels are a good place to begin. Little wonder that the Bible is known all around the world and 50 are sold very minute. Why not give it a try?

The poster is available to download from www.devoncornwall.police.uk/halloween and the police ask that people do not to call at houses which have the poster on display.

Inspector Paul Morgan, from the neighbourhood policing unit, said: "The number of Hallowe'en activities has grown immensely in recent years. For many people it is a fun event but there are some people, particularly elderly and vulnerable, who get worried if strangers call at the door during the evening."

Devon and Cornwall Police have advised young people to follow these tips to stay safe on Hallowe'en:

- Always be accompanied by an adult when you are trick-or-treating.
- Only go to houses of people that you know and who are happy for you to call.
 Keep to places that you know and are well lit. Do not
- take short cuts through gardens, alleyways or parks.
- Watch out for traffic drivers might not see you.
 If you are wearing a mask make sure that you can see
- where you are going and that you are aware of your surroundings.
- Carry a torch and a fully charged mobile phone.

At 8.10pm on Wednesday, October 20th, (20:10 on 20.10.2010) Rainbows, Brownies, Guides, Senior Section members, Leaders, Trefoil Guild members and invited guests of the Axminster Division area celebrated the event by throwing a party at Uplyme Village Hall.

A spokesman for the Axminster Division said: "While the party was going on, local bell ringers joined in the celebrations by ringing out the old centenary and ringing in the new one. New code of responsibility for divers out

A SURVEY has just been released which discloses that whilst the great majority of divers care about marine wildlife during their underwater explorations, there is still a need to raise awareness about the laws dealing with the collecting of shellfish and a new Divers Shellfish Code has been published, urging divers to act responsibly by limiting catches to what they can eat and to observe the law.

People diving at Kimmeridge Bay in the Purbeck Marine Wildlife Reserve took part in the survey between May and September and while some 78 per cent of those questioned expressed concern that divers should not take excessive amounts of shellfish, nearly half were not aware of the laws against taking breeding animals or selling their catch.

I encountered this problem at first-hand when, a few months ago, I spent several hours at sea, from Lulworth Bay, with a professional fully licensed scallop fisherman and diver. He told me that whilst he had to invest in a boat, diving equipment and pay a substantial fee to operate, amateur divers were scooping up scallops and any other edible crustaceans, and in many cases selling them.

Not only was this illegal, but they were also ignoring safety regulations. He had to phone in to the coastguard at regular intervals to establish his position, and provide full diving details in case of an accident. In addition, all scallops brought up have to be graded for size and those too small returned to the sea, a conservation measure which is largely ignored by amateur divers. Legal minimum sizes for lobsters, crabs, scallops and spider crabs have now been published for the benefit of amateurs.

Julie Hatcher, marine awareness officer at Dorset

Julie Hatcher, marine awareness officer at Dorset Wildlife Trust, says that the survey shows that most divers are concerned about the marine environment and support our call for a responsible attitude to diving and shellfish collecting. Well, yes, that may be so, but I suspect that there is still an irresponsible minority who allow greed to overcome responsibility. According to the survey the fish favoured by divers are cuttlefish, lobster, crab, ray, shark and conger eels. Curiously, no mention of scallops.

Did you know that the Blackdown Hills is one of this country's leading locations for night sky watching? The problem is that today there is so much artificial light from cities, towns, motorways, even small villages, that are no more than a mere 10 per cent of the British population can night gaze and wonder at the immensity of the planets and stars. Now new guidance has been published by the Blackdown Hills AONB team to assist people to reduce light pollution and to protect our views of the galaxy. These can be downloaded from the internet and are a continuation of the work which took place in the International Year of Astronomy in 2009. The information sheets will explain how practical steps can be taken to ensure houses or premises are not leaking light and detracting from the natural sky. To download go to www.blackdownhillsaonb.org.uk.

On the bird front an extreme rarity, a Solitary Sandpiper, was seen on Black Hole Marsh behind Seaton. This is only the 39th record of this American wader and the first for Devon and, not surprisingly, attracted scores of twitchers. The young osprey, which stayed so long on the Axe estuary, has now departed, but observers were thrilled to see how, over a few days, its fishing technique swiftly improved and it was soon catching large mullet.

UPOTTERY PRICE GUIDE - £245,000

Located in the unspoilt Devon village of Upottery, this grade II listed stone built coach house was once part of Upottery Manor which was demolished in the 1950?s and formerly the residence of Viscount Sidmouth. The Old Coach House was imaginatively converted in the 1990?s into a complex of six homes each with its own unique character and layout. One of these homes is Phaeton, which has been tastefully updated by the present owners. A particular feature is the double storey fanlight window, which now fills one of the original coach house doorways. Having parked the car you walk through a pair of iron gates and an archway and enter a large paved communal courtyard with a well and a Victorian style lamp post. Here you will sense the grandeur of the Victorian architecture, while access to each apartment leads off the courtyard. Phaeton has its own entrance and a glazed front door which leads through to an entrance hall and in turn to the hall. The hall has a stone effect ceramic tiled floor and doors lead off to the ground floor rooms. The cloakroom has been updated in a contemporary style with stone effect ceramic tiled walls and floor. The living/dining room has an ornamental Minster stone fireplace and three windows below the large fanlight window looking over the courtyard and the main bedroom gallery above. The kitchen is double aspect with an arched window to the rear and a window and french doors out to the courtyard. The same tiled floor is carried through from the hall, and it is fitted with a range of shaker style units and integrated appliances. The main bedroom is galleried above the living/dining room taking full advantage of the large fanlight window overlooking the courtyard, and with a window to the rear. The landing, with a window to the rear has a door leading through to an inner hallway with an airing cupboard and a door to the shower room. This has been updated recently with tiled walls and floor and fixtures. The second bedroom is a double room with a window overlooking the courtyard and two double built in wardrobes. Phaeton also has allocated parking and a storage shed. Services include mains water, drainage and electricity. Each owner of the six properties in The Old Coach House has a share in the management company and the service charge currently stands at £70 per month. The Council Tax is band C.

Game for anything

ow's the time to try all those Norrington-Davies says. exciting sounding birds like duck, pheasant and goose. During game season, we find out how to get involved (with the eating side of things, that is).

When it comes to seasonal meat, words like venison, partridge and grouse are often just a step too far for everyday

But luckily, chef Tom Norrington-Davies is a man on a mission. He and colleague Trish Hilbert, who have worked together at celebrated London restaurants Great Queen Street and The Anchor and Hope, want to share their all-consuming passion for game meat with home cooks.

They say game is tastier, healthier and more interesting than the generic runof-the-mill meats found supermarket shelves - and just as versatile.

"Next time you find yourself slathering a chicken breast with a marinade to save it from mediocrity, try swapping it for something that has literally walked on the wild side, and tastes like it,"

High Street, Honiton

"Next time you find yourself worrying about the way your pork chop was treated on the farm, consider the genuinely free-range lifestyle of a rabbit, or a deer, or any number of other animals that roamed where they liked, and ate what they wanted."

Norrington-Davies and Hilferty say they look forward to winter's dark days because game meats are more plentiful during the colder months.

"The reason we don't spend those colder months dreaming too much about the summer is probably because our cooking is dominated by the huge choice of game on offer. Game is not winter food by any means, but it is the best thing about that time of year."

"Game never seems to taste the same twice," Norrington-Davies says.

"Just like a brilliant wine and its terroir, or a spankingly fresh oyster and its riverbed, game has such a close relationship with nature that it manages to delight and surprise you on some level every time you cook and eat it." Christmas

One Fat Lady back in flavour

hen Clarissa Dickson Wright takes on a challenge, the aristocratic cook does it properly. The former 'Fat Lady' talks about the challenges of tackling one-pot recipes for her latest book Potty and why the new Conservative government has brought her back into favour with TV executives.

Formerly one half of the Two Fat Ladies, the larger-than-life cook loves hunting, fresh meat from the butcher and chewing the fat.

But it's a while since you last saw her on television. "Blair was trying to ban everything I stood for... and Alistair Campbell ran the BBC," she says, as explanation for her absence.

While she's here to talk about her new one pot cookbook, Potty, the cook is equally as excited about becoming flavour of the month again.

Since New Labour's exit, Dickson Wright says her agent has been inundated with offers and she's just back from a bout of filming.

"I always said that when there was a change of government I'd be back on television. The old lot hated Clarissa And The Countryman [her second BBC series]. I was making television about all the things Blair was trying to ban and get rid of like farming."

While the former PM might disagree with her interpretation of history, it's a fact that Dickson Wright marched with the Countryside Alliance against the last government's controversial Hunting Act, and has always been keen to voice her disapproval over any perceived lack of support for British food and agriculture.

For the last few years, the aristocratic cook and former alcoholic (who managed to drink her way through a £2.8 million fortune in her early years) says her professional life has revolved around writing books.

"When the publisher Hodder approached me with this idea, I said, 'On God no' because, having been a cookery book seller for 20 years, I knew that one pot cookbooks are always rather dreary." Still, she likes a challenge, and soon began experimenting with the idea.

"There are lots of variants on what constitutes a pot," she laughs. "I remembered the eggs and bacon in a tin mug idea from when I was rector at the University of Aberdeen and was rustling up food for the students."

One of the recipes in Potty has attracted attention for its less than appetising title: Primordial Soup.

"I was sitting next to a biologist who worked at the Natural History Museum. We were discussing where life came from and she said she thought it came from primordial soup."

"'What a great idea for a recipe', I thought, so I went off and created a Japanese-type soup filled with seaweed, so it looked like the beginnings of life."

Luckily for Dickson Wright, having written 16 cookbooks she now has "a palate in [her] head".

"I lie in bed thinking about what to do. I think about a chicken, add flavours to it and then I get up and make it - and nowadays it virtually always works."

She describes her style of cooking as very simple. "It's all about the quality of ingredients. But while your food will be 10 times better if you've got a good fishmonger and a good butcher, if you get the flavours right it will still be good."

"Although if anyone who's read more than one of my books still buys their meat in supermarkets, I'm surprised they're still buying my books."

Having just completed some filming for a new series, The Great British Food Revival, to be broadcast in January 2011 on BBC Two, she says she wishes people would focus programmes on food, rather than celebrity chefs.

"I plead with Pat Llewellyn (the producer behind the Two Fat Ladies, Gordon Ramsay and Jamie Oliver): 'Go away from the chef thing - no one cares any more what the food tastes like'."

But Dickson Wright's a little more hopeful about the state of British agriculture now there's been a change of government.

"A few years ago I went up to a Defra stand at the Yorkshire Show and there was no mention of British food, or farming. So I asked about it and the man on the stand said, 'We can import it cheaper'.

"Now we have a Defra minister who's a farmer, Richard Benyon, and Jim Paice, who comes from farming stock and knows a thing about British food and farming."

Christmas Food & Drin

The rudest food

'amie Oliver's Fifteen protege, Aaron Craze, goes solo with his new show Rude Boy Food, starting Monday November 16. The chef talks about kicking back with his mates, bantering with strangers and getting fired up over food.

As an unemployed 25-year-old carpet fitter with a girlfriend and one-year-old daughter to support, Aaron Craze didn't feel he had much in common with Jamie Oliver.

Six years later, he now counts the multimillionaire chef among his friends and can say without a shadow of a doubt that his jobless days are over.

One of Oliver's original Fifteen proteges, 31year-old Craze is about to become a star in

His new cooking show, Rude Boy Food, starts on the Good Food channel on November 16, and it's as cool as Naked Chef

Filmed in a flat which looks over the rooftops of real-life London, it shows a side of the capital rarely shown in lifestyle

Craze shops, cooks and chats in front of a concrete landscape and his food reflects the multi-culturalism of his upbringing in West

"My friends and their families were from places in the Caribbean and Africa and you could get anything you liked food-wise. Street food wasn't a dodgy burger with remember Jamie being impressed with brown lettuce on the way home from the mine."

Although Craze might be a similar age to 33-year-old Oliver, he's hardly cut from same establishment-friendly cloth.

In the first episode of his new series, Craze cooks for a gang of local parkour enthusiasts. As they leap off walls and jump over hostilelooking metal railings, Craze is in the background working out how to cook up chicken teriyaki in an outside gale.

It's fair to say that a lot has happened to Craze since he rocked up at the catering department of the Hammersmith and West London College, in 2002.

His girlfriend Nicci filled in an application for the unemployed carpet fitter, who left school at 15, and he admits that when he started the only knife he was comfortable with was a stanley knife.

Somehow he and his family survived on meagre expenses during his apprenticeship years at Fifteen, and he worked his way up the ladder to become a valued part of the Oliver empire.

"I was lucky in the first week," says Aaron looking back on his first few months of the

"They asked us to make bread, and that was the one thing my dad used to make at home. And it's the kind of thing you don't forget. I

But he also admits that there were times when he didn't think he'd make it to the end.

"It's still the hardest thing I've ever done. I had no money, and the hours were killing me, and I'd be trying to fit in carpet jobs around the place, to make ends meet. But Nicci was like, 'There is NO way you are quitting!' So that was that."

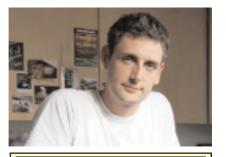

And thankfully his hard work paid off. After two years, Aaron graduated with merit and has since worked at The Ivy and also in the kitchen at Fifteen working his way up from trainee to Chef de Partie.

He then went on to win the Channel 4 series Jamie's Chef in 2007, after which he was given his own place - The Cock Inn, Braintree - and tasked with transforming it from a country pub into a vibrant Italianinspired pub and restaurant.

Now he's back in London, and working on his new show. Something the young chef says he never thought would happen.

"It's hard to take it in. Last night me, my partner and our two daughters were sitting watching the Naked Chef at home, and having a lovely time.

"And the idea that people could do that with me - that's... well it basically seems unbelievable."

A three bedroom first floor apartment created from a converted period town house into two apartments. No.2 is two storeys and is arranged over the 1st and 2nd floors. Outside the property benefits from a paved courtyard garden.

This detached 19th Century former Gardeners Cottage is located on this exclusive 350 acre coastal estate between Lyme Regis and Seaton. The beautifully presented interior features stripped pine doors, floors boards and vaulted ceilings.

A detached 5 bedroom period home situated in a private road very close to the sea front. We feel this property, covering approximately 1600 sqft offers exceptionally generous accommodation for the price. A viewing is essential to appreciate its potential.

If you are looking for a home with a stunning view then this maybe the home for you. No.14 is arguably the best located home in the street as it enjoys a panoramic view of the countryside, town, sea and Dorset Coastline from almost every room.

We have more properties on our books; so why not pop into our office for a cup of tea and locally baked cake to discuss your requirements. THIS is no ordinary road test, but then this is no ordinary car.

The Mazda MX-5 is already an icon of the sports car market by virtue of its clean-cut looks, sharp handling and the major fun factor. This third generation car is also the easiest to live with: whether you plump for the classic fabric folding roof or the Roadster-Coupe version, it has the kind of turn-key reliability that makes everyday use a

So it can do the daily driver thing as well as deliver big B-road thrills, which is versatile enough for a two-seat roadster. But that wasn't enough for the team at Mazda UK, who decided that the combination of a balanced chassis, sharp responses and bulletproof mechanicals made for an ideal racing car.

So that's exactly what happened. A pair of standard MX-5 2.0i Sport Tech models were taken straight from the production line and turned into racers. Not that it resulted in major modifications: the 2.0-litre petrol engine, gearbox and rear axle were all standard, with just the addition of safety equipment like a roll cage and fire extinguisher. Uprated suspension and brakes were also required to cope with the demands of the track, and slick tyres meant the qualities of chassis could be fully exploited.

The Britcar series pits a wide variety of machinery against the challenges of endurance racing, culminating in a 24-hour marathon around the Silverstone circuit.

And so it was that the plucky MX-5 with a modest 158bhp found itself sharing a grid with Aston Martins, Porsches and heavily modified BMWs. As you might expect, in a straight line the MX-5 could only keep pace with similarly-powered cars, even though the four-cylinder unit was happy to rev all day long and was sufficiently torquey to have the rear wheels working hard coming out of corners.

The fact that the MX-5 was light on its toes, light on fuel and forgiving to drive meant each team member could go longer between pit stops and leapfrog up the running order. The theory goes that a good road car should make a good racing car, but not necessarily the other way round. Yet the MX-5's fluidity and exploitable handling make it a perfect companion for road or track. All you need to do then is find somewhere to play.

Tim triumphs in classic scramble

By BEN MIDDLETON

HONITON enthusiast has triumphed in an international classic scramble competition.

Tim Dallaway, of Dallaway's Garage, East Devon Business Park, Wilmington, recently took part in the Norman Enduro at Beauval-en-Caux in France

The competition is open to riders from across 14 different nations with more than 40 riders taking part in each

Tim won four of the six races that he entered and was also victorious in the grand slam race where the top eight riders battle it out.

Speaking to Pulman's View, he said: "The weather we had whilst we were over in France was perfect for racing.

"The French are very passionate about their motorbikes. It's like the English are passionate about football and the French are passionate about motorbikes and classic scrambling."

Dad John added: "It was such a different atmosphere and it was an excellent competition and very relaxed. I definitely think we will do more (races) abroad.

"Scrambling has been in our family for ages. My dad did it, I did it, and now Tim does it. It is a real family affair.

"Tim has been doing classic scrambles for the last three years or so and we go all over the country as well as Scotland and Wales."

The father and son team have worked on the bike that is used for racing and say it is one of the best that they have owned.

John said: "The bike is based on a 1965 BSA. We have done a lot of work on the frame.

in classic scrambling and you just do it for the glory. But the races are very friendly. In France they are very passionate about classic scrambling and there was thousands of people walking around and having a look at

"At the start of the competition nobody really knew who Tim was then, by the end, people were buying him drinks and asking for his autograph.

"The competition has been running for 60 years but this was the last one and Tim was presented with his trophy by the mayor of the town."

Tim also finished second overall in British Classic Scramble Championship despite only entering a handful of races.

He is now hoping to enter the European Classic Scramble Championship.

Ha Ha Knockout Oualifier THE Winter season is upon us and although the weather was crisp and clear those frosted mornings with temporary greens beckoned.

We were playing the Ha Ha winter league qualifier, a Foursomes Stableford to see who the last 16 teams would be to progress to the knock out stages.

Many a good pairing has come unstuck at this stage and this year was no different.

Choosing whose drive was better placed to attack the green can be very testing even off similar drives in the middle of fairways as Andy Harrison and Chris Earle learned to their cost.

Andy felt compelled to take Chris's drive up the 18th and then treated his partner to the sight of his chubbed second shot trickling straight into the fairway bunker six feet in front of him, a shot that even brought the four ball behind them on the 18th tee to their knees in fits of laughter.

But a weekend's golf up at Honiton is played in that manner of enjoyment. The three leading qualifiers and leading seeds in the draw for the next round were J Drew and D Noar 39 points, M Fowler and R Reece 38 points and H Cook and J Gillingham 36 points. Good luck to all in the next

Mixed Section

Treble Six was the format this week but slightly changed. Holes one to six Greensomes, seven to 12 Foursomes and 13 to 18 Better Ball.

This proved very popular especially with Christine Bradshaw and Terry Dimond who won with a score of 44 points.

Second place Penny Blackburn and Max Pipe with 37 points. Third place Barbara Eastwood and Peter Shepherd with 36 points.

Ladies Section

On Sunday a small field played a EWGA Medal. The winner was Elizabeth Davies.

Wednesday was also a EWGA Medal with a large field taking part. Silver Division winner was Jane Watts Nett 76.

The outstanding performance was from Jim Wallis in Division One who with a gross score of 72 and a 10 handicap amassed a total of 43 points to earn first place.

Division Two was won by newly appointed captain Bill Nicholls with points on count back from Bob Milton, Dave Morgan 37, Peter Blake 35 and John Weeden 35 were the other prize winners.

Also this week the keenly contested match was played versus the ladies for the Otter Trophy.

Played off the men's card a good deal of discussion and comment occurs regarding additional strokes given to the ladies.

It is however, a tough task for the ladies over the longer holes but a fine performance from Andrea Squire and Jane Watts saw them triumph over the seniors pair.

Overall however, the seniors proved just as strong and held on to the

The Winter League, a two ball better ball Stableford, got under way last Monday.

Ten dates are set aside during the winter months; teams are allowed to compete on eight occasions with the best six counting in the final analysis.

Last year's winners Rob Grove (16) and Bryan Dale (22) showed that they are not goint to relinquish their title easily by recording a magnificent opening score for the 15 hole competition with 39 points.

LOCAL rider Tim Rogers has finished his eventing season on a high note with three placings at Aldon Horse Trials, Yeovil.

He came eighth in the CIC* with Cruisings Slainte Mhath (Archie) — a CIC* is a Federation Equestre Internationale (FEI) International two-day novice event run under FEI rules

After the dressage, the pair were 12th and had just one fence down in the showjumping - which proved to very influential with only four clears out of nearly 70 starters. The duo completed the cross-country element clear and inside the time.

In the Novice competition, Tim came close to winning on Bwana but had to finish for a second, only beaten by half a second.

On his third horse of the event, Tim was placed fifth in the BE100 with Woetske.

After the horse trials Tim told Pulman's View Sport that he was thrilled with how each of the horses had competed.

He said: "I am delighted with how the horses went and it is a great finish to the year for me."

The opposition were fielding a very new and in some cases very young team. Whilst Honiton's defence had little to do, the midfield and forwards were very busy with a great many attacks on Ashmoor's goal. Seven

Despite the initial heavy rain the skies cleared and a very competitive game of hockey resulted.

Honiton decided to push forward in the first half in order to score some earlier goals and were rewarded with two. The first came from Vanessa Trude who made her way through great shot from the edge of the circle which beat several of Sidmouth's defence and the goalkeeper.

The second goals came from a series of well worked passes from Becky Hammett up the right wing to Jean Herniman who battled past the Sidmouth defender to put a really well weighted pass into the edge of the circle for Sophie George who just managed to reach it and put a solid strike across the goalkeeper and into the goal leaving the score at two nil

In the second half Sidmouth managed one goal which flew past Amy Phillips shoulder but didn't manage any more.

In the last 10 minutes Honiton's best defence came in keeping the ball in Sidmouth's goal and away form Honiton's goal. Honiton played a great team game this week with some really good passages of possession and passing. Player of the match was Lucy Le Cocq who once more had a great game.

D&E LEAGUE: AXMOUTH UTD V UAU EXETER

AXMOUTH United returned to winning ways with a 6-2 defeat of UAU Exeter who put in a spirited display playing two thirds of the game with 10 men.

Axmouth started well and Mike

Challis was unlucky not to open his account for the season when his effort in the first minute was cleared off the line. It signalled a bright start for the home side who enjoyed most of the early possession in a physical encounter and in the eight minute Challis forced the first of many fine saves from the visiting keeper who had an excellent game

Axmouth continued to make a number of half chances yet their keeper Andrew Smart produced a great save of his own in the 18th minute to deny UAU what looked a certain opener.

On 22 minutes the deadlock was broken when Reece Hales sent in a great ball which took a couple of deflections before getting the last touch off a defender to go down as an own goal.

Six minutes later a fine effort was handled on the line by a visiting defender and Axmouth were a penalty and further assisted by a red card for the offender. The normally reliable Jamie Hughes stepped up but saw his effort stopped by another fine save.

The miss seemed to put the home side off stride for a few minutes and the visitors upped their efforts despite being a man down and made the most of some good fortune when a long ball forward looked to be easily cleared but Charlie Sweetland lost his footing leaving the attacker clear to slot home a neat finish in the 36th minute.

The remaining few minutes of the half were fought evenly and the sides went in level at the break.

Second half saw Axmouth start quickly again and look to use the one man advantage by passing the ball and using the space and duly got the second after good work from Sandman, Hales and Dack combined to set up Charlie Clarke to finish neatly five minutes into the second half and four minutes later Asa Sandman got on the end of a Hales cross to make it 3-1.

A fine 15 minute spell was completed when Clarke tapped home his second following a fine long range effort from Jake Dack which the unlucky keeper got a hand to but only managed to tip it on to the bar and see it fall to Clarke.

Give credit to the UAU lads who never gave up and on 65 minutes got a second themselves when a speculative long range effort looped high and dropped just under the bar to beat Smart who was certainly not helped by the very bright sunlight.

A determined away side then pressed hard with a hope of snatching a point but were undone by strikes firstly from Sandman following more good work from Dack and as the play became so spread the home side capitalised on the tiring UAU lads as Daniel Reynolds finished off after clever play from Sandman in the 86th minute to make it 6-2 at the end.

A fine all round team performance and the scoreline could have been worse but for a fine display from the away keeper who along with the rest of his team deserve some credit for their efforts.

Axmouth continue to progress and play decent football and the team are building on a fine start with a real team spirit of togetherness, again plenty of notable performances but Asa Sandman earned man of the match honours for a fine all round

PERRY STREET LEAGUE ROUND-UP

BAILEY IS LEFT EXHAUSTED BY 5-4 'THRILLER'

By KEVIN FAHEY

FARWAY manager Andy Bailey was left feeling it after a ninegoal thriller on Saturday.Farway travelled to Merriott missing a couple of key players through injuries and holidays but welcomed back goalkeeper Philip

Last week's stand-in keeper, Dave Summers, kept a clean sheet so Woodley had a lot to live up to.

The game got off to an even start with both teams sharing possession. After 15 minutes, Farway defender Chris Bailey was adjudged to have hand-balled 25 yards from goal. The resulting free kick was chipped over the wall and into the bottom corner to make it 1-0.

With the away side pushing for an equaliser, they forced a corner and Bradley King delivered a cracking drive across goal with Andy Dymond supplying the finishing touch to level

Merriott were next to have an opportunity at goal with some neat passing leading to their centre-back finding the bottom corner with a cool finish from the edge of the box.

The second half started in disastrous fashion for Farway with Merriott kicking off and within seconds their striker shooting from 40 yards taking a small deflection and finding its way past keeper Woodley.

who must have got his feet caught in

Two minutes later Merriott found themselves 4-1 up with their striker breaking free and scoring from a seemingly off-side position.

With 40 minutes left, Farway had time on their side and looked to reduce the defecit with shots from King, James Salter and Scott Burrough, all testing the keeper.

Then a glimmer of hope when Burrough was fouled in the box with Matt Williams converting the resulting penalty. Farway looked confident and carried on pushing, and again were awarded with a King corner causing problems and Philip Derryman rising at the back post to head home from six yards to make it

The next goal would be crucial, and it was Merriott who found the back of the net with their midfielder having too much time to shoot from 20 yards and score in off the post.

Farway still didn't let their heads drop and with 10 minutes left, Salter broke free and smashed the ball past an advancing keeper, making it 5-4 in the 80th minute with a terrific individual goal, setting up a rousing

Farway finished the game strongly with a dipping volley from Burrough and a shot cleared off the line from Salter but could not find the equaliser. Merriott's goals came from Pete Symes, Craig Full, Craig Lodge and two from Scott Jennings as they consolidated their good start in the Premier Division.

Farway were disappointed after scoring four goals but getting no reward, but must cut out individual mistakes against the better teams in the league.

Farway manager Andy Bailey admitted he was left exhausted by a nine-goal thriller in which his team staged the superb comeback that deserved more than just an honourable 5-4 defeat against

"It was such an exhausting second half that I thought we were trailing 6-5!" said Bailey.

"It was a really exciting comeback but we just couldn't pile on enough pressure at the end to get that equaliser."

"It was a very exciting game," agreed Merriott manager Martin

Beaminster kept up the pressure at the top of the Premier with a solid 2-0 win over Barrington with newcomer Sam Beaton scoring both goals, the second an excellent lob over the goalkeeper.

In Division One leaders Winsham made it five wins out of five with an emphatic 4-1 victory at Charmouth.

"It wasn't our best performance of the season but we played some nice football for 50 of the 90 minutes,' said manager Phil Loaring.

"It has been a very good start to the Having finished joint second last season and missed out on promotion on goal difference we want to go up this time"

Goals from Tom Studd, Sam Symes (two) and Stuart Richards, with a superb free kick, earned Winsham the points.

Also in Division One Ali Rattenbury missed a last minute penalty to deny Lyme Regis Reserves a share of the spoils as they lost 3-2 at Ilminster Colts.

"It was a Chris Waddle moment and Ali was not happy with himself," said manager Gerard Hitchcock. Andrew Hitchcock and Dan Thirwell were Lyme's goal scorers.

In Division Two Crewkerne Rangers fought back from a twogoals deficit against second-placed Uplyme to clinch a memorable 4-2

After a goalless first half — which included a superb penalty save from Rangers goalkeeper Mark Holton to deny Uplyme joint-manager Roger Smart — Alex Cottle struck twice to put Uplyme on course for victory.

But Rangers showed tremendous character to hit back with goals from Adam Tanner, man-of-the-match Tom Fussell, Josh Lovatt (penalty) and Toby Symes to clinch all of the points.

"I am very pleased with that result," purred Rangers boss Scott Isaacs.

PENINSULA -AXMINSTER TOWN FOOTBALL CLUB

Axminster Town 1 Alphington 4

AXMINSTER'S miserable start to the season continued as they slumped to their eighth defeat to leave them rooted to the foot of the league.
"We made some basic mistakes and gave away two soft goals in the opening ten minutes," groaned manager James Bennett, who had just returned from his honeymoon.

"We got back into the game then and had a few chances but then just before half time we went to sleep again and suddenly it was three-nil."

Bennett made a tactical change at half time converting to a 3-5-2 formation and the switch immediately paid dividends as Leo Maguire reduced the deficit in the 50th minute.

"We were then on top for the next 20 minutes but couldn't get that second goal that would have put us right back into the game," added Bennett. "Instead they hit us on the counter-attack but we never gave in and that was encouraging.

SOUTH WEST PENINSULAR -OTTERY ST MARY FOOTBALL CLUB

Ottery St Mary 3

SIMON Parnell delivered a manof-the-match performance as he scored his first hat-trick for the club to lift the pressure on the team after a stuttering start to the season.

"It wasn't a bad performance and I'll definitely take that after the last couple of weeks," said manager Dane Bunney.

Parnell's first was a scuffed shot which spun over the goalkeeper and he doubled that to put Ottery in charge at half-time. The goal that crowned his hat-trick was Parnell's best as he collected Daryl Johnston's pass and coolly slotted it home for his fourth goal in four games.

"It was also very pleasing that we defended well and despite the single Crediton goal we restricted them to a couple of harmless long range shots," added Bunney. "Hopefully we can build on that and start climbing the

Exeter Civil Service Reserves 4 Colyton 3

EXETER Civil Service climbed out of the bottom three despite a spirited fight back from Colyton.

The match kicked off in torrential rain and it only took two minutes for Civil to open the scoring, a complete misunderstanding within the Coly ranks allowed Civil to score an easy many wrong options were chosen, far too many underhit/overhit and generally misplaced passes meant that it was always going to be an uphill struggle.

Things did not get much better and for large parts of the game Colyton were very disjointed.

Civil's forward line were a constant threat and by far the best we have come up against this season, but the Civil defence was by far the worst.

At times Coly played some extremely nice football, crisp sharp interplay creating several openings but the finishing was woefully short of the standard expected and this resulted in a very frustrating

Coly levelled things up on 36 minutes, Richard Tratt smashing the ball home after a fine run. With the scores level the teams went in for the half time oranges.

Only 30 seconds into the second period Tratt became the provider, squaring a perfect ball into the path of Callum Somers who tamely shot at the keeper when presented with the simplest of tasks.

The miss was to prove very costly as Civil scored regularly throughout the half to open up a 4-1 lead. In between Civil also missed a penalty,

Coly keeper Kris Reid making a breathtaking save.

After Civil's fourth goal the revival started as straight from the restart Gary May on 80 minutes hit the dead ball from the centre spot up and over the keepers head and into the top corner. Five minutes later sub Vince Foxwell added a third after great approach play from Wayne Waddon. With time running out Coly threw the kitchen sink at Civil but could not find a way to break through.

A disappointing afternoon saw Coly throw away three easily attainable

The Division One leaders had to dig deep against a gritty home side but

OFFWELL RANGERS

HAVING beaten Lympstone last week Offwell knew the return game would be a difficult one, and so it proved as they returned home defeated 3-2.

They took too long to get their ame going and by the time they did they were a goal down.

Offwell went 2-1 up early in the second half only to concede a stupid goal straight from the kick off.

This seemed to knock them for six and Lympstone took charge of proceedings and scored what proved to be the winner with fifteen minutes left. Offwell pushed until the last minute but to no avail and the result

A very disappointed manager said: "We got exactly what we deserved today, too many players looked frightened of the aggressive tactics Lympstone showed, but they have to get used to it.

HONITON NETBALL LEAGUE

DIVISION ONE

Visions 39, Weather Girls 17 Keeley's Angels 30, Bo-Peeps 24 Just two games in Division One tonight - with neither of the top two playing it was an opportunity for Keeley's Angels to close the gap, but first they had to overcome Bo-Peeps.

They started well, and with Kirsty Wackley in good form at GS they led the Peeps by 8-3 at quarter time. In the second quarter Faye Webb playing at GA for Bo-Peeps got her eye in and the scoring was more even so that at half way the Angels led by Keeley's had much the better of the final period and opened up their lead to leave Bo-Peeps on the wrong end of the 39-24 score, but with the Peeps gaining a point. The second game of the night had newly promoted Weather Girls up against 'Visions. With 'Visions starting stronger they had built a 14-9 lead at half way, a lead they continued to build on so that they defeated weather Girls by 30-17 at the end and move up to fourth in the table and left the Weather Girls still at the foot of the division.

DIVISION TWO Howden's Hawks 49, JD Tyres 24, Sidmouth Toucans 46, CMC Birds 12 Hi Q 53, Lyme Bay 8 TTT 30, NAS Vehicle Repairs 17

Hi Q were up against Lyme Bay, who are still looking for their first win of the campaign. By half way Hi Q were 21-4 in front and they ended the night winners by 53-8 to hold on to the top spot in the division. Tip Top Trees had a difficult game against the improving and hard to beat NAS Vehicle Repairs. With Harriet eaton playing very well in defence the Trees moved 18-7 ahead by half way. The third quarter went goal for goal. Going into the final period 3Ts led 24-13 before moving further ahead to win by 30-17 and hold their second place. Sidmouth Toucans held on to their third spot when they made it three wins in a row by beating CMC Birds, who found it difficult against the power of the Toucans attack. The final score was a comfortable 46-12 win for the Toucans.

Howden Hawks moved up to fourth place thanks to their win over JD Tyres, who came very close to picking up a point, but they missed out by just a single goal.

AXMINSTER HOSPITAL CUP Axminster Town 5 Millwey Rise 1

JOEL Seaward and Tom Vincent both scored twice as Axminster Town swept aside the challenge of neighbours Millwey Rise.

For a team that can't buy a victory in the South West Peninsula League – they have yet to win in ten games this season – the cup proved to be a welcome relief for manager James Bennett.

"It was nice to beat our local rivals and I was happy with that," said Bennett. "Now we need to re-produce that attitude and level of performance week in, week out in the league."

A decent crowd of around 150 had turned up at Sector Lane, possibly expecting a cup upset with Axminster stranded at the foot of their league while Millwey Rise have made a bright start to life in Division One of the Perry Street League.

The opening skirmishes were certainly very competitive as the visitors started at a high tempo but it was Axminster who made the vital breakthrough when midfielder Seaward scored the first of his goals with a cracking strike.

Tom Vincent was then brought down by Millwey goalkeeper Steve O'Brien for a penalty which the Town striker duly converted and when the same player netted just before halftime the contest was effectively over.

Ben Turner headed in the fourth from Ben Vine's corner and while the talented Sam Dibling, who started the season at Sector Lane before switching clubs, hit back for the visitors Seaward restored the four goal advantage with his second in the final ten minutes.

"It was a well contested game but I think we were left dumbfounded by the pace of the ball," admitted Millwey boss Shane Featherstone.

"Our lads gave their best but you could see the gap between the teams. At the end of the day the better side won and I hope the win kick starts Axminster's season."
